Colour Palette

The palette is built around three families — slate blue for trust and credibility, violet for wisdom and premium depth, and gold for hope and positive action. Ivory and linen keep everything warm and human rather than clinical.

Colour Rationale

Slate Blue

Blue neurologically activates the parasympathetic nervous system, the part of the brain responsible for calm and trust. For someone anxious about cognitive decline, the brand's first job is to make them feel safe. Slate blue sits between clinical credibility and approachability. Paired with violet and gold it becomes completely ownable — no other Irish health brand uses this combination.

Deep Violet

Purple carries the strongest association with wisdom, intelligence and luxury. In a neuroscience context it signals deep expertise. No other Irish brain health brand uses violet, which means NeuroNourish owns it visually in this market. It appears in secondary sections only, adding intellectual depth without overwhelming the palette.

Gold

Gold signals dignity, premium positioning and optimism. Every CTA is gold — every moment a visitor is invited to act, the colour they encounter is warm and hopeful. The brand never asks someone to act from fear.

Ivory

Pure white reads as clinical. Ivory is warm, editorial and human — the difference between a GP waiting room and a premium health magazine. As the dominant background it ensures the brand never feels crowded or cold.

Typography Rules

- ✓ Use Playfair Display for all headlines, section headings, pull quotes and the logo wordmark

✓ Use Inter for all body text, labels, navigation, buttons, captions and footer

✓ Body text minimum 16px — never smaller on any platform

✓ Line height minimum 1.75x on all body text

✓ Letter spacing 0.01–0.02em on body text for dyslexia accessibility

✓ Max line length 65 characters on all paragraphs
- ✗ Never use italic anywhere — not in headlines, quotes or body copy

✗ Never use any font other than Playfair Display or Inter

✗ Never use a weight below 300 on dark backgrounds

✗ Never use Playfair Display below 18px

The Logo

The NeuroNourish logo is built around a split-brain mark — left hemisphere in deep violet, right hemisphere in slate blue — with gold neural veins running through the right side and a gold dividing line down the centre. The wordmark is set in Playfair Display, paired with the Inter sub-label "Clinic" beneath it.

The two colours and the gold thread together represent the brand's full story: scientific credibility (slate blue), intellectual depth (violet), and hope (gold), exactly as defined in the colour palette section of these guidelines.

Primary Logo — Full Colour

Use on white or ivory backgrounds. This is the default version of the logo for most applications — website header, business cards, printed materials, email signatures.

Reversed Logo — For Dark Backgrounds

Use when the logo sits on Deep Slate, Deep Violet, or any dark brand colour. The wordmark switches to ivory and the "Clinic" sub-label to sky blue for legibility.

Icon Only

Use for favicons, social media profile images, app icons, and anywhere the full wordmark won't fit. The icon alone is recognisable and works at very small sizes.

Clear Space

Always maintain a minimum clear space around the logo equal to one quarter of the icon's height, measured on all sides. No text, imagery, or other elements should enter this space.

Minimum Size

- ✓ Digital — icon only: minimum 24px height
- ✓ Print — icon only: minimum 10mm height
- ✓ Digital — full lockup: minimum 120px width
- ✓ Print — full lockup: minimum 30mm width

Logo Misuse

The logo must always appear exactly as supplied. The examples below show common mistakes to avoid.

Don't stretch or distortDon't recolour outside the paletteDon't place on clashing backgroundsDon't add shadows or effects

Additional Rules

- ✗ Never stretch, squash, or distort the logo's proportions
- ✗ Never recolour the logo outside the approved brand palette
- ✗ Never place the logo on a background that reduces contrast or legibility
- ✗ Never add drop shadows, glows, outlines, or other effects
- ✗ Never rotate or angle the logo
- ✗ Never recreate or trace the logo — always use the supplied files
- ✓ Always use the primary logo on light backgrounds
- ✓ Always use the reversed logo on dark backgrounds
- ✓ Always maintain the minimum clear space
- ✓ Always use the icon-only version when space is limited

Tone of Voice

Four traits define how NeuroNourish sounds everywhere it speaks — on the website, in clinic, on social, in every email. Voice is as much a brand asset as colour or logo, and should be applied with the same discipline.

SOPHISTICATED

Never gimmicky, never bargain-bin wellness. Language is considered and precise, never hyped or cluttered with exclamation marks.

AUTHENTIC

Grounded in real science, real clients, real results. Every claim is backed — nothing is asserted for effect.

MODERN

An Apple × WHOOP × Levels Health sensibility — clean, confident, data-informed, never dated or overly clinical.

CALM

Never urgent, never alarmist. The brand never asks someone to act from fear — every message is reassuring, even when discussing serious topics.

Tone of Voice — In Practice

Mandatory Exclusions — Never Use

- ✗ Fearmongering or scare tactics

✗ Aggressive "biohacker" branding

✗ Hospital-style clinical imagery or language

✗ Overpromising outcomes or implying dementia can be cured

✗ Overly alternative or spiritual wellness aesthetics

✗ Overly sales-focused language

Voice At A Glance

"Your brain's future isn't written yet: take control of it now." Single-minded proposition — the calibration point for every headline the brand writes.
INSTEAD OF...	NEURONOURISH SAYS...
"Don't wait until it's too late"	"Most clinics wait for symptoms. We don't."
"Cure your cognitive decline"	"A clinical pathway built around your brain."
